

Africa Regional International Staff/Student Exchange (ARISE II):
Food Security and Sustainable Human Wellbeing

Call For Applications

DEADLINE: 25 AUGUST 2016

The ARISE Programme invites Applications from African nationals registered for Masters or Doctoral studies in the fields of Agriculture, Medical Sciences, Engineering and Energy. A list of subjects offered by this programme in these fields are available at <http://www.intra-acp-arise.org/study-and-research-opportunities/>.

To qualify, students must be registered for a full degree Masters or Doctoral programme at a home African university to spend time (minimum 10 months) at one of the ARISE partner institution. Students must return to their home institution after the exchange period to complete their degree.

These short-term mobilities should be spent at one of the following ARISE partner institutions: Addis Ababa University, University of Rwanda, University of Cape Town, University of Ghana, Makerere University and University of Nairobi.

Masters & Doctorate Exchanges

Students will focus on research, engage in literature review, specialised theoretical or methodological training, fieldwork and lab experiments and will co-operate with their academic host and home supervisors.

Staff Exchanges

These opportunities are designed for professional development of academic and administrative staff and aim to create mutual institutional knowledge. Only staff members from the ARISE partner universities are eligible to apply for this opportunity. Mobility period: administrative staff 1 month; academics 1-3 months.
