

Marcela Nicodemos

On May 7, 2014, the Brazilian Ambassador to Kenya paid a courtesy call on the Vice-Chancellor, University of Nairobi (UoN) to discuss possible collaboration with Brazil. In the meeting between the University and Ambassador Marcela Nicodemos, it was agreed that the two will look at partnering in offering Portuguese language courses and promoting sports, arts and culture. The partnerships will focus on enhancing cultural and knowledge exchange between the University and Brazilian academic and research institutions.

Amb. Nicodemos said that in building diplomatic relationships, it is important to establish links with academic and research institutions in the country. He noted that the Embassy was keen on promoting the diplomatic, political, educational, social and economic issues through various initiatives. Already the Embassy is organizing various events in Kenya during the World Cup 2014. Such activities, include photo exhibitions, presentations and cultural displays as part of the geared towards promoting the relationship between Kenya and Brazil.
