

UoN receives PWD inclusion champion award

At the first ever National Diversity and Inclusion Awards and Recognition Awards, the University of Nairobi was crowned second runners up in the Diversity and Inclusion PWD Inclusion Champion category.

Dr. Jane Ambuko from the College of Agriculture and Veterinary Sciences received the first runners up in the Diversity and Inclusion Entrepreneur of Excellence Award.

The awards were presented to the University at a gala dinner held on June 29, 2018.

The Diversity and Inclusion Awards and Recognition celebrates excellent achievements of individuals and organizations who are champion of a more peaceful, united, equal and inclusive society, giving them recognition for their commitment and hard work.

Thanking for voting for the University of Nairobi!
